

POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Federal encroachment on the rights and prerogatives of the states—an issue that was hot in George Washington's day, and which is just as hot today—seems destined to stir up a new nation-wide rumpus as a result of the proposed program by the Federal Power commission to direct the expansion of the electric power and light industry beginning in 1943.

Of 45 state utility commissions polled by The Wall Street Journal in a telegraphic survey to determine reaction to the new program, which would make Uncle Sam virtual czar of all power resources in the United States, the majority replied that they considered the plan a direct invasion of state's rights.

The survey was prompted by the power program submitted recently by the Federal power commission to President Roosevelt, calling for the installation of 13,500,000 kilowatts of generating capacity in 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946. Hottest controversial feature of the plan was the recommendation that the Power commission be given supervisory authority over it.

Replies to the survey were studded with such phrases as "prejudicial to the public welfare," "a threat to state jurisdiction," "fraught with great danger," "a serious threat to state's rights," etc.

C. C. Baker, president of the California State Railroad commission, replying for this state, not only denounced the plan as an encroachment on state authority, but also asserted bluntly that no power shortage exists in California and that there is therefore no excuse for Federal interference.

The California commissioner replied as follows:

"There is no power deficiency in California. This is due to a far-sighted planning policy involving close cooperation between state and federal agencies, together with executives of distribution systems. The Federal 'full control' proposal would undoubtedly precipitate complications involving delays, duplications waste, et cetera, and would be far less effective towards attainment of the desired objective.

"A continuation of the present policy would insure an adequate power supply and service under increasing demands with a minimum as to regulatory practices. In my opinion the proposed extension of Federal agency authority would constitute an 'invasion of the prerogatives of state regulatory authorities.'"

If the reaction of state regulatory bodies throughout the nation may be taken as a criterion of public sentiment in the various states, the scheme for totalitarian control of America's power resources is due for very rough sledding. The states just don't like it!

THE FOOTLIGHTERS HEAR TALK BY JOSEPH MCKINNON

Meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Levenberg on San Jose-Los Gatos road Tuesday evening, members of The Footlighters had the pleasure of hearing an interesting talk by Supervisor Joseph McKinnon. He told of his experiences in and history of Hawaii, where he had lived for 14 years. The group was also entertained with Hula dances by the Dutton family of San Jose.

Three new members were taken into the organization. They are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Church and William Wrigglesworth. Initiation of these and other members taken in recently will be held at the next regular meeting on Sept. 9.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by a committee composed of Jane and Martha Parr and Evelyn Shumway.

The play which has been chosen by the group for the next production some time in October is "It Pays to Advertise" a three act comedy by Roi Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett. This play has been very popular throughout the east and middle west for the last few years and is well recommended. It has a good plot with well balanced comedy. Paul Becker will direct the play with Mrs. Archie Keesling assisting.

Those taking part are Bud Levenberg, Helen Wrigglesworth, Lenore Weaver, Jack Murdock, Robert Weaver, Paul Becker, Evelyn Shumway, D. H. Cramer, Gene Hodges, Ira Grim, Herold Morton and Martha Parr. It is brought to the attention of those in the play that there will be no practice on Friday night.

Growers Asked For Finest Fruit For County Fair

An urgent appeal to all orchardists to set aside some of their finest fruit for show at the county fair, Oct. 7-12 is issued from county fair headquarters in San Jose.

Private lockers are available at the Security Warehouse to keep the fruit in top condition, and growers are asked to deliver their fruit there, marked plainly with name and address. Entry blanks will then be mailed. There is no charge to the growers for storage. Good firm fruit of shipping ripeness is what is wanted, according to the display committee.

Growers unable to bring the fruit in are asked to call fair headquarters, Ballard 1380, and field men will call for it. Right now late peaches, Bartlett pears and early apples are leading the list of fruits being stored.

Phone Building To Be Completed In Early October

Work on the new dial system telephone building being erected on the west side of South Second street in Campbell is progressing on schedule.

The structure is expected to be completed early in October and the installation of central office equipment will begin as soon thereafter as possible according to J. I. McEwan, assistant manager at the local office.

McEwan states further that when completed the project will cost in the neighborhood of $47,500. New operator office equipment in the San Jose office to be used in conjunction with Campbell is rapidly nearing completion and outside and toll trunk plant construction will begin shortly. Installation of dial station equipment is scheduled to start late in October.

The entire unit probably will be in operation early in 1942.

Campbell Kiwanis club heard a report of the national convention Tuesday given by Raymond Fisher, lieutenant-governor of division 12, and also were given latest instructions and information. President, Joe Gomes presided.

Next Tuesday the club will observe the second in its series of ladies nights with dinner at 6:45.

Cambrian to Have Rummage Sale

An urgent S. O. S. is being sent all members and friends in the Cambrian community to contact Mrs. Clarence Fagalde or Mrs. Martin Farnham so that they may call for donations for the rummage sale.

August 27 to 30 inclusive, has been chosen for the club's sale which will be held at 34 South Market street, San Jose.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for the completion of a youth's center being built on the school grounds by the Cambrian Men's club. When completed the building will be used by both the Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Clive Baugh and daughter, Nancy Lee, of Berkeley, spent Sunday in Campbell with his mother, Mrs. Hattie A. Baugh.

BOWLING ALLEY OPENS HERE TOMORROW

Tomorrow (Friday) afternoon Joe Zalba will open his 3 line bowling (duck pin) alley to the public in the building between the Sprouse-Reitz store and Dr. Morgan's office.

Zalba is from Hollister where the game is very popular and says that both duck pin and regular bowling may be played without affecting the scoring of either. Scoring in duck pin is the same as in the regular bowling, but the alleys are shorter and narrower, the pins are smaller and the balls weigh around five pounds.

Daily and weekly high scores will be given consideration starting Sunday and a miniature pin will be presented the ladies who score 125 points in a game and men with 220 points. A trophy for high score in consecutive games will be available. No pin ball games will be permitted but later soft drinks may be had.

"Our aim," asserted Mr. Zalba when interviewed by the Press, "is to operate a clean, attractive place of amusement where ladies and gentlemen and children may enjoy themselves. Rowdism will not be tolerated."

Gene Hodges Honored At Surprise Party

A no-host surprise birthday party was tendered Gene Hodges Saturday night by a group of friends at the Hodges home on North Harrison.

Festivities were held in the garage which had been converted into a ballroom and decorated with streamers of yellow and pink crepe paper with the color scheme carried out in other accessories.

Games and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour when refreshments were served topped off with a huge birthday cake with lighted candles.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames Bryce Whitmore, Milton Herold, Richard Knapen, Robert Weaver, Walter Silberbauer, Dick Karns, E. J. Hodges, Gene Hodges, Mrs. Albin Anderson and Gloyd Anderson.

Mrs. William Coupland who suffered a serious heart attack recently is slowly improving. Her oldest daughter Mrs. Andrew Larson of Dunsmuir, is now with her, as Mrs. Gladys Carnes returned to a patient in Los Angeles she left when called home in the emergency.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Stray and son, Walter, of Ducor, are house guests at the W. H. Stray home, and are also visiting the George S. Robsons.

Mrs. Helen Osborn Former Resident Called by Death

Mrs. Helen Osborn, a former resident of Campbell, passed away early Thursday morning in the hospital at Yosemite National Park following a few hours illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Osborn left Campbell twelve years ago after making this their home for 22 years. They moved to Oakland where their only son, George, was employed and where Mr. Osborn passed away four years later.

Some time ago, Mrs. Osborn fractured a leg and while still on crutches fell and broke a hip. She had never fully recovered from those disasters and other serious illnesses, but was given the most devoted and constant attention and unremitting care by her son, who had taken her to Yosemite for a change of scene.

Services were held Saturday afternoon from the Grant D. Miller chapel in Oakland, at which her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred James of Campbell were present. Also in attendance were two brothers, Arthur Gregory of San Jose, and Edwin Gregory of Caruthers, and her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koenig of San Francisco.

Women's Society Entertains At Lloyd Home

The lovely sheltered lawns and gardens surrounding the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lloyd were enjoyed by about a hundred guests and members of the Methodist Women's Society for Social Service Wednesday afternoon.

Tables seating four or larger numbers were placed at vantage points throughout the grounds. A most tempting array of luncheon dishes was served buffet style and then the groups were free to entertain themselves with games, sewing or conversation.

Later in the afternoon a bevy of young ladies who had assisted during the luncheon enjoyed the swimming pool, and added life to the pretty scene.

Mrs. M. E. Curry and sons Pat and David of West Campbell avenue left Tuesday for a two weeks motor trip to British Columbia.

Mrs. Carl Shirk has been visiting her mother, Mrs. George Speegle, for several days while her husband is deep-sea fishing off Catalina island. He will join her here later for a joint visit in Oakland and at the State Fair before returning to their home in Modesto.

Ada Rebekah lodge members will hold a food sale Saturday, Aug. 6, at Field's store. A variety of foods will be on sale beginning at 9 o'clock.

GRANGE HOLDS REGULAR MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

A meeting of Orchard City Grange was held Tuesday night, August 12 at I. O. O. F. hall in Campbell. A new member, Mrs. Wilbur Gordon was administered the oath of obligation for the first degree.

Reports were heard by the various committee heads. J. C. Gordon of the taxation committee stated that according to the Gallup poll it is the opinion of the majority that the lower income groups should be taxed in some way.

A motion was passed protesting against migrant camps in residential areas because they seriously lowered property values.

R. B. Hummel talked on the cooperation of the people in this country with the radio broadcasts back and forth across the Atlantic.

M. H. Keesling, prominent Campbell fruit grower told of his new invention, a loading device which picks up six piles of prunes at a time and does away with loading platform. He also reported on the prices of apricots and the percentage of the new crop sold.

Harry Barnes gave a report on the grange hall project. It was decided to let the project out to competitive bidders.

A. M. Foster, assistant county agricultural commissioner gave a talk on how to raise larger peaches by pruning and thinning. L. R. Cody county agricultural commissioner told about a new kind of feed for livestock.

Following the meeting the members went to the banquet hall for the peach feed, an annual event put on by Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Keesling. The fruit was all from their own ranch. The following varieties were served: Elberta, Mary's Choice, Muirs, J. H. Hales, Rio Oso, Lowell, Palora Clings, and Nectarines. One Hale measured four and a half inches in diameter, the largest grown by Mr. Keesling.

Mrs. Frank Blaine Guest of Honor At Shower Party

Mrs. Franklin Blaine was honor guest Tuesday afternoon at a shower party at the Palo Alto home of Mrs. Frank Gibson.

Ten of the invited guests, all of whom were members of a Camp Fire group during grammar and high school days in Campbell, and who have an annual get-together, were present, for an afternoon of reminiscing and visiting. The miscellaneous gifts were presented in the form of a "refugee bundle."

Refreshments were served in the attractive garden patio of the Gibson home.

NEW SPEED LAW

On September 14, the bill raising the speed limit in open areas from 45 to 55 miles per hour becomes effective. Regardless of the new "prima facie" limit, the basic speed law, Section 510 of the Vehicle Code, still holds. In effect it states that no person may drive at a speed greater than reasonable or prudent, considering highway and traffic conditions.

These "prima facie" limits, such as the 25-mile an hour restriction in business and residence districts, and the new 55-mile limit for open highways, place the burden of proof, in a prosecution, on the defendant, to show that his speed, although in excess of these limits, was safe. Conversely, an officer may issue a citation to a motorist who is driving but 25 miles an hour in a 55-mile zone if the evidence presented indicates that the speed of the motorist was unsafe.

NO STARVATION DIET

The agricultural problem is still here.

The farmer's overhead has shown great increases. Labor is much more costly than it used to be and is difficult to obtain. Taxes are rising. And every manufactured article the farmer buys is more expensive.

The farmer's income, on the other hand, has not shown a comparable gain. Even in the best of times the average farmer's profit is small—today it is too often close to the point of disappearance.

The drive now being conducted by farm groups, to attain equality for the farmer with labor and industry, deserves full support. We can't let the producers of our food live on a starvation diet.

JAPAN VS. AMERICA

"In any war with us, you will have to come to us over 3,500 miles of water, which hitherto has not been regarded as an advantage in naval strategy," said a Japanese admiral to an American newspaperman the other day.

That and other developments have proved a remarkable belligerence on the part of the oriental militarists who, in their turn, accuse America of "seeking incidents in the Pacific."

There are other belligerents, issuing statements in the same vein. Said Mussolini in a speech to Italian troops leaving for the Russian front: "The lineup is now complete for a clash between two worlds, with Rome, Berlin and Tokio on one side, and London, Washington and Moscow on the other."

What is the position of the participants in Mussolini's lineup? Rome, it has been clear for some time, is flat on its back, a poor position from which to shout annihilistic rhetoric. Berlin's position at this juncture is a long way from decisive.

As far as Tokio is concerned, the experts agreed that while her military defense position is exceedingly strong, it is economically weak. Tokio talks about having two million soldiers ready for a new fray, says Paul Mallon, Washington analyst, is just so much colossal nerve in a war of nerves. War-weary Japan, with her army split and scattered from Manchuria to Formosa, from Korea to Hainan, is now calling up 250,000 more men. But some of them, comments Mallon, will have to be armed with chopsticks.

Tokio has long been preparing the Japanese nation and conditioning the people for the "inevitability of war." The oil and gasoline embargo, precipitating the present bitter reaction, has provided the Japanese militarists with a seemingly suitable breaking point in a long tense relationship.

What they will do with it is quite another matter, not to be decided upon by belligerent talk of superannuated dictators.

RULES FOR THE BICYCLISTS

Youthful bicyclists, many of whom will become tomorrow's automobile drivers, should be taught proper ways to ride and impressed with the importance of obeying traffic rules.

The public safety department of the California State Automobile association offered these suggestions:

See that all proper safety equipment is included when bicycles are purchased.

Make regular inspections to see that this equipment remains in good operating condition, especially the lights if the bicycle is to be used at night.

Emphasize to the child that bicycle riders must obey traffic regulations the same as automobile drivers. Prevent younger children from riding in busy traffic streets until they have developed skill.

See that beginners do their learning in parks, playgrounds, or other places away from traffic.

Point out the risks of "trick" riding and of carrying other children on handlebars or crossbar.

HERE'S THE MAIL MAN

Today the west's fist highway mail service is in operation, with a red-white-and-blue mail truck now providing daily delivery along a 120-mile route between San Francisco and Pacific Grove.

Complete in every detail as a regular mail car, Uncle Sam's rubber-tired "letter carrier" is staffed, in addition to drivers, by two postal clerks and equipped with letter racks and stamp cancelling machines. It will serve 1,500,000 people in the six counties it traverses, and bring mail deliveries to communities no longer served by railroads.

This is the third such highway mail car recently put into operation by the government, but the first one west of the Mississippi. The west's first highway mail car is one more step in breaking the barrier of distance and bringing metropolitan service to all regions.

THE NAVY FIGHTS A FOE

Whether or not the U. S. Navy is ever called upon to defend our shores with force of arms, Americans may shortly be deeply in debt to the sailors and marines for providing them with defense of another kind — defense against the malevolent influenza-spawning bacilli.

In the next five weeks nearly 10,000 men, stationed at San Diego Naval Training Station, Camp Elliott, and other training centers, will have been inoculated with the new Rockefeller anti-influenza vaccine.

Never before has this vaccine been put to test on anywhere near so vast a scale as it will during this month and next. Navy scientists at the University of California in recent weeks have been working day and night, testing blood samples taken from volunteers before the vaccine was injected, in order to compare these earlier tests with samples to be taken when the vaccine has had a chance to build up immunity.

Though influenza is not now the ruthless killer it proved to be in the years between 1917 and 1920, it nevertheless remains one of the chief causes of death in the United States. Only heart disease and cancer surpass it in the number of victims claimed.

The worth of any counter-attack, devised by man's ingenuity to defeat the swarming, invisible kingdom of bacilli that infests his environment, is the number of times that counter-attack has proved successful. The thousands of volunteers willingly "testing" the effectiveness of the new vaccine will provide medical science with an answer that might otherwise have taken years to secure.

These men of the armed services are already participants in a battle to strengthen and defend America.

The OPM Production Division formed a defense advisory committee of the pulp and paper products industry and said defense requirements will increase consumption of the industry's products by 2,000,000 tons this year and an additional 2,000,000 tons next year.

OUR STATE GOVERNMENT

GEORGE REILLY

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

(In a new series of articles on "Our State Government," Commissioner George R. Reilly, our member of the State Board of Equalization, plans a streamlined analysis of the most important departments of state government, and their functions. The series when complete will give a comprehensive and informative picture to our readers as to how state government in California works.)

—EDITOR

Finally we come to what undoubtedly is the most important factor in the preservation of our rights and liberties, the judicial power of the state. In California judicial power is vested in the State Senate, sitting as a court of impeachment; the Supreme Court, District Court of Appeals, Superior and such municipal and inferior courts as may be established.

In the Matter of impeachment the state Senate has the sole right to try executives subject to impeachment proceedings, and establish a conviction upon two thirds vote. Then the Assembly does the actual impeaching.

The Supreme Court has a Chief Justice and six associate justices, all elected for terms of twelve years.

District Courts of Appeal have three justices each, and in California there are four such courts, one each in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Sacramento, and one roving court. The justices are elected for 12-year terms. Both the supreme and appellate courts hear matters on appeal from the superior courts and have powers for issuing writs.

The superior courts are commonly known as county courts, and there is one in each county, the number of judges varying according to population, but determined by the Legislature. The judges are elected for six-year terms, and where there are two or more to a court, a presiding judge is chosen.

Municipal, police and justice of the peace courts are known as inferior courts for the handling of misdemeanors and civil cases. Appeals from these courts go to the superior court.

(Concluded next week)

Milton (Bud) Bachman left today for San Francisco to enlist either in the Naval Reserve or in the aviation corps. Before acceptance, however, he will have to pass rigid physical tests and have the proper reactions to high altitudes and dives in an airplane.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Ryder of Cobleskill, N. Y., who have been visiting their son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. D. H. Baldwin, will leave next Thursday on their return trip home, which will include a visit to the Grand Canyon. They will be accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Helen Cooley, head of the economics department of the Oneota, N. Y. high school, who had been taking special work at the summer session of the U. C. at Berkeley.

Constitution Week will be observed in Campbell on the evening of Sept. 19. The Kiwanis club, with J. O. Leverton, general chairman, is formulating the plans for the meeting and other organizations of the community will be asked to cooperate and assist with the program, which will be arranged.

The Misses Jewel and Jeanette Abbott returned Saturday from Camp Minkalo, Silver Lake, in Amador county, where they had spent seven weeks as recreational advisors for Camp Fire Girls. Mr. and Mrs. Ira Abbott motored up to the camp to bring them home.

French Garrison

High above the city of Quebec is the stone walled citadel overlooking the St. Lawrence river. First built by the French, then rebuilt by the British, it has for a century been guarded by a French Canadian garrison. Members of the force speak French except when giving military commands, then they speak English. Their uniforms are British and they form a regular part of the Canadian army.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

William Saroyan's book, "My Name Is Aram," is a story about a boy.

Now that's a wide statement, I know, but that's just what it is. And a more thoroughly human tale has not been written since the days of Mark Twain.

The boy in the book, Aram Gargohlanian, is a native American of Armenian parentage. The scene is laid in the San Joaquin Valley near Fresno, California. It is whimsical, it is sympathetic, it is appealing, it is funny. Speaking of characters, Bing Crosby's Robin Burn has not a thing on Aram when it comes to uncles. Aram has a long list of uncles and each one has a definite influence on his life.

There is no plot to the story—it is a series of incidents in a boy's life told in a style that only Saroyan can tell.

You will either like it wholeheartedly or you won't. Nevertheless by virtue of its uniqueness it is worth a trial. You will not have lost anything if you discover it is not what you like to read.

What Campbell is reading: Berlin Diary by William L. Shirer; The Keys of the Kingdom by Dr. A. J. Cronin; Mr. and Mrs. Cugat by Isabel Scott Rorick; Trousers Will Be Worn by C. V. R. Thompson; You Can't Do Business With Hitler by Louis Miller; Above Suspicion by Helen MacInnes.

Mrs. William Lloyd and daughter, Miss Geraldine, are shopping in San Francisco today in preparation for the young lady's entrance to Stanford this fall. Furnishing a college room is one of the events in a freshman's life.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gibson and little daughter are leaving this week for a visit with relatives in the southland. The first stop will be at Lompoc, where Mrs. Gibson's uncle, Ralph Cookson is located, then at Santa Maria with a nephew of Mr. Gibson's and lastly at North Hollywood with the Stephen Merrills.

WANTED—To sell or exchange large house and 1 1-4 acres on Winchester road next to Shell Oil station for three bedroom home with smaller lot. Campbell school district property preferred. Inquire during week days.

W. H. Stray Tells Of Eastern Trip

Editor Campbell Press,
My dear Mrs. Smith:

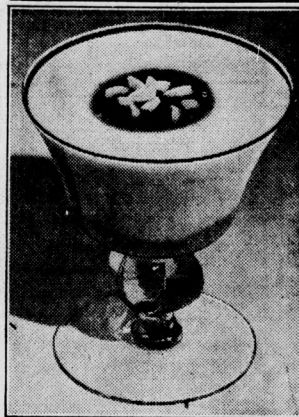

You have asked that I write something about my recent trip East. In addition to attending the church where my wife and I were married and where my mother first took me sixty three years ago, visiting the Masonic lodge of which I am the oldest living past master, visiting as much of the Michigan State prison as is permitted, going through Andrew Jackson's home, and looking over the seventeen bath houses at Hot Springs, Ark., I visited three institutions which to me were outstanding.

The first was the Star Commonwealth at Albion, Mich. This was established by Floyd Star, a college fraternity man and something of an athlete. It houses 125 boys all problem cases sent by the juvenile court of the state. It operates on the cottage plan with 25 or 30 boys to a cottage presided over by two housemothers. A farm of over 1000 acres is operated by the boys as well as a wood-working department all under the direction of teachers.

The second place was Berea College in Kentucky, which I have wished to visit for over thirty years. This college is for the poorer boys and girls of the mountains and has an enrollment of 2000. There is no tuition and the board and room is but $130 per year. Over half of the students will not have over $50 when they enter in September and they earn the balance. The president is a brother of Robert Hutchins of the University of Chicago and was preceded by his father.

The third stop was at Boy's Town ten miles out of Omaha. The moving pictures did not exaggerate this junior republic of Father Flanigans. There are 375 boys and no preference is given to creed or color and while this fine institution is presided over by a Rev. Father more than fifty percent of the boys are Protestant. I saw quite a few Negro boys among the citizens. I call them citizens for they are self governing, of course under direction. A mayor and board of commissioners are elected every six months. Each apartment housing 25 boys is presided over by two members of the board plus a housemother. The boys oper-

Simple Desserts Most Popular

Most of us prepare elaborate desserts for special occasions. Few make this a regular practice as the days and weeks come and go. We prefer the simple dessert, particularly if it is easy to prepare, economical and delicious.

Here is a dessert that does not call for eggs. No baking or boiling is needed. The ingredients should be in every home at all times—with the possible exception of the toasted almonds for which you can easily find a substitute. Mothers of children who refuse to drink milk will find it particularly beneficial.

Apricot Vanilla Rennet-Custard

1/2 cup dried apricots
1 cup cold water
1 tablespoon sugar
2 cups milk (not canned or soft curd)
1 package vanilla rennet powder
Chocolate sauce
Chopped toasted almonds

Wash dried apricots thoroughly, add water, cover, and simmer for 1/2 to 1 hour, or until soft, adding more water if necessary to prevent scorching. Drain off excess liquid and rub apricots through a strainer, stir in the sugar, and cool. Divide cooled puree among 4 or 5 sherbet glasses or custard cups. Make rennet-custard according to directions on package. Pour over apricot puree. Do not move until firm—about 10 minutes. Then chill. Just before serving, garnish with a pool of thick chocolate sauce and a sprinkling of chopped toasted almonds.

Makes 4 to 5 servings, depending on size of sherbets.

I. Q. Quiz

A person's intelligent quotient (I. Q.) is figured by multiplying the mental age by 100 and dividing by the actual age. Thus, a normal person had an I. Q. of 100. Below 80 is considered subnormal, and a person of gifted mentality is denoted by a rating of more than 120.

ate the second largest dairy in the state, have a wood-working department, printing section with a type-setting machine and other modern equipment, a laundry, a clay modeling department, and a large farm. Last April a very fine chapel was dedicated and it is the duty of a group of the boys to keep this in order. All the rest of the work about the place is likewise done by the boys. Father Flanigan is certainly entitled to the thanks of this country for the fine work he is doing with boys.

With all the 5500 miles, home still looks good to me.

Yours very truly,
W. H. Stray.

The Desecration of Hate

By IRVIN S. COBB

NELLIE REVELL, one of the most famous women in America and justly so, spent several years of her youth with a circus. She knows hundreds of stories—humorous, pathetic, dramatic, tragic—of the life under the big top. Here is one of her favorites:

"That the circus, in the minds of the public, is still several notches below the Four Hundred in the social scale is sad but true," says Miss Revell. "The attitude of the average citizen toward the tent people is exemplified by the following story on Zach Terrill, manager of the Sells-Floto show. He was standing in front of the main entrance when he was accosted by a handsome young fellow, about twenty-five, well dressed and intelligent looking.

"I live right over in Indian Orchard, the next town," he said, "and I want to go with the show."

"Well, but what can you do?" countered Terrill. "You have to know something about the show business before you can be of any use to us."

"I'm willing to do anything at all," insisted the applicant, looking grim and desperate, "but I've just got to go with a circus. I just had some trouble with my folks and I want to disgrace 'em."

OUR HIGH SCHOOL

SCIENCE

Miss Boesch - Mr. Noddin
Mr. Dwelley - Mr. Simonds

The science department of the school includes courses in General Science for freshmen; Biology for sophomores; junior-senior Biology, and Physics for upper-class students. The last three of these courses are planned so as to fulfill college entrance requirements. A course is also given in Applied Science for such upper-class students as prefer the greater emphasis to be placed on the practical application of science to daily life with a minimum of a theoretical nature.

The chemical and physical laboratories are well provided with equipment and supplies so that the students are enabled to perform as many experiments as time will permit. The biological laboratory has a large variety of preserved and mounted specimens for a more detailed study.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Mr. Anker - Mr. Klassen
Miss Nielsen - Miss Parks
Miss Reader - Miss Stedman

The social studies department is organized into a four year course extending from the freshman year through the senior year.

All must contribute a share in the business of running the world. Therefore, some ideas about present-day problems should be studied. A study of the governments should be made to appreciate our own democratic way of life and the world should be seen as something that is constantly changing. Lives should be enriched with a knowledge of the cultures which are our heritage from the past.

With these things in mind included in the Social studies is a study of the great civilizations of the past; their history, literature and art; a study of present-day governments and the economic and geographic factors involved in their growth; the history of our own country and the issues facing us in an industrial society, for it is only by a study of these many problems that we can develop the intelligent citizenship, broad interests, sympathies and understanding that form a reasonable basis for patriotism and tolerance today.

Fluorescent Boudoir Mirror Is Newest Aid to Charm

Magic Wands of Light in Translucent Luminaire Atop This Tall Looking-glass Treat Evelyn and Vivien to a Modern Alice-in-Wonderland Surprise.

IN THAT ALL-IMPORTANT matter of looking most charming, neither Evelyn nor Vivien knew what amazing things fluorescent lighting could accomplish in the boudoir. Indeed, each had marveled at the new kind of lighting recently introduced by science. They had seen it glorifying merchandise in stores. They knew that light from the long slender tubes is doing big things to speed up production in defense industries.

But it was only the other day that Evelyn and Vivien experienced their biggest fluorescent surprise. This occurred as the girls were being conducted on a tour of the Nela Park laboratories, "lighting headquarters of the world," at Cleveland. There in "the home of tomorrow" at G.E. Institute, they saw how beautifully fluorescent lighting can serve in the average home.

The above picture shows Evelyn standing before a full-length mirror in the boudoir of Nela's light-conditioned home. She is refreshing herself in the cool light from two of the magic wands in the plastic luminaire just above the mirror. Additional fluorescent lamps concealed beneath a cornice over the windows are used to create a lovely decorative effect.

The lamp tubes selected are of the fluorescent white tone variety. Which is why Vivien is agreeing with Evelyn that the amount and kind of lighting here is the nearest thing to natural daylight they ever saw in a bedroom. And how divine for detecting that windblown wisp of hair and rearranging it just so.

Science, it seems, has charmed these two young women no end. A little unusual for this pair of famous all-girl girls whose vocation is that of charming others. Each, you know, is a featured soloist on the Sunday night Hour of Charm radio program. And just as the talented Evelyn with her magic violin and lovely Vivien with her enchanting soprano voice have entered millions of homes, so too may fluorescent lighting soon be entering countless boudoirs . . . to bring new beauty and charm to womankind.

Patty Whitmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Whitmore, and Doris Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith of Sunnyside avenue, returned to their homes Sunday afternoon from an enjoyable week at camp in Big Basin.
